STONE'S HOPE GONE.

The Court in General Term Denies Him a New Trial.

An Effort to Get a Further Extension Time-Only Three Days Left for Preparation Unless the Court or the President Interferes-Mr. A. K. Browne Makes an Appeal for His Client, &c.

Stone, the Wife Murderer, The case of James Madison Wyatt Stone, uvieted of the murder of his wife. Alberta tone, in October, 1878, was decided in the court in general term yesterday, by affirmng the decree of the court below. Justice Cox delivered the opinion of the court overruling the exceptions, saying that no error of law had been committed at the trial by the court below. The prisoner was indicted December 13, 1878, for murder, arraigned and leaded not guilty.

The Government pressed for trial, but on The Government pressed for trial, but on December 31 a postponement was allowed that the defondant might obtain evidence from the State of Maine touching his sanity and previous good character. On September 39, 1873, the trial began, Mr. A. K. Browne and Professor R. T. Greener appearing for the accused, having been assigned by the court as counsel on the withdrawal of Mr. J. B. Swent. Two days later the Jury returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree. On October 2 a motion for a new trial was entered, and on the 25th of the same month it was overruled, and Stone sentenced to be hung on December 19, 1879, between 12 m. and 2 o'clock p. m. On November 15 the bill of excaptions was filed, and on the 25th the execution of the sentence and on the 25th the execution of the sentence was suspended, in order to allow the carrying of the case to the general term for review. Yesterday after the decision was rendered

Mr. Browne asked that the time for the execu-tion of the death-sentence be extended; as if enforced it would occur on the list instant, and would not allow him time to prepare to meet his fate. Believing that he would secure a new trial, Stone had been very hopeful, and this news coming upon him so suddenly would find him totally unprepared for death. The capit decided to take the matter under deuri decided to take the matter under advisement and decide this morning whether or not they had the power to do what was asked. Mr. Browne said that in case he falled in this respect, he should then go to the President and if possible secure a reprieve. Subsequently he wrote a letter to his client

Mr. Brown certainty discrete dominant and the persistency with which he has stuck to this case. Without reward or promise of fee he accepted the assignment of the court, and has done all within his power that could prove of benefit to Stone or help his cause. The case before the general term was argued by Mr. Alpheus A. Townsend, who came into it at the request of Mr. Browne, who was sick at that time.

The properties to be provided with the necessary comforts in the sleeper, he did not take surficient clothing with him to protect his person control in the severe weather, and as a consequence, suffered extremely. He placed the damages statistical at $5,000. In the Circuit court has been sustained. The plaintiff was represented by General Sol. Henkle and S. R. Bond, and the defense by Messrs, Cook and Cole.

Increasing the Police Force

Commissioner Morgan is still firm in the belief that the police force ought to be augmented in numbers, and is preparing a bill, which he will present to Congress at an early day, asking that 100 additional patrolmen be added to the present force. The present system was imaggrated in the year 1861, when the population of the District was 61.122 and the assessed value of private property was $54,166,174. Then 150 men were allowed, and that umber was subsequently increased to 200 in be year 1866. The Commissioner, in advothe year 1806. The Commissioner, in advo-cating before the committee the passage of his will and pointing out the nonesity for it, pro-poses to show the fucrease of population in this District by decades, communelog at 1,800 nd carrying it to 1,900, when it will reach

This was an action by Leopold Luchs upon a policy of in-surance for $5,000 mean the life of his partner. surance for $5,000 mean the life of his partner. Levi Dillinderg. The verdict in the Circuit court was for the full amount of the policy, and the company took the case to the general term on exceptions, and yesterday Justice Hagner, delivering the opinion of the court, affirms the judgment below. The points deadled were: First—That the promise to pay 'to the assumd' was a promise to pay to Luchs and not to the man whose life was lusured. Second—That if Dillemberg owed Luchs money, and in settlement of the delt took out the pelicy in Luchs' mane and agreed to pay the premiums, it was not a wagering policy, and was therefore good in law. Third—That if an insulance company accepts an application some of the questions in which Angel-Inst if an instrance company accepts an application scale of the questions in which are manswored, it waives the right to the information called for by such questions. Fourth—That if a judge is requested by counsel to give a series of instructions and the court refuses to give the whole series, and a general extension to such refused in them. a general exception to such refusal is taken, the exception fails if any one of the instruc-tions was bad in law. A SENATOR CANED.

Mississippians Honoring Senator Bruce. The Mississippians temporarily residing in hear Ninth, 6 the city assembled at the residence of Senator Bruce, No. 909 M street, last night, and presented him with a beautiful gold-headed cane as a token of their appreciation of his services to the cause of Republicanism. Judge Tarbell, Deputy First Auditor of the Treasury, made a pect presentation seech.

Deputy First Auditor of the Treasury, made a neat presentation speech.

Senator Brucs replied, and said he accepted the cane as a token of the friendship of the Mississippians. He took his seat as Senator at a time when it was thought questionable whether it was best to give the colored race representations in the legislative halls of the Nation. He was under the eye of the world, because he was the only colored man in the United States Senate. He cultivated courteous relations with his colleagues. He endeavored to take large and liberal ideas on all subjects. He had endeavored to discharge his duties to the benefit and interest of his State duties to the benefit and interest of his State and Nation.

Mr. G. C. Smith, of Mississippi, then pre-sented Mrs. Bruce with two beautiful pictures, as a token of the respect and esterm they had for her. Mrs. Bruco said she accepted the beautiful pictures and desired to return her heartfelt thanks to the donors. Governor Pinchback said he was glad to see such unity between Mississippians, for in Louisiana Democrats and Republicans were rent asuader. He was as proud of the record of Senator Bruce as if he was a Missi sippian himself. A spicualid supper was then enjoyed, at which wine and wit flowed. Whitaker, our esteemed townsman, for some time past one of the most prominent business men of Washington, who has recently been ill and now is suffering from coogestion of the optic nerve, and was supdissimulation, her unrequited love for Guilford Dudley, which is the moving spring of her unthe death knell of that unhappy girl; her im perious scorn of John Dudley's intrigues—al these various passions and emotions Mrs. Bowers presented with great realistic force. Miss Charlotte Thompson was a charming Lady Jeaz Grey. She was equally successful in the representation of happy, budding womanhood, radiant with the snoshine of love, in expressing her horner at Mary's love, in expressing her horror at Mary's proposition to surrender her betrothed lover; in her scornful deflance of Mary's throats, in the assertion of her queenly rights, and in the clinging, frightend attitude when death's horrors approach her. There is nothing over-done, nothing left unsatisfied; it is a most perfect performance. Mr. McCullum as John Dudley gave a fine picture of the haughty, ambitions unsermalous earl, and folly sus-ambitious, unscrupulous earl, and fully sustained his reputation as a careful actor. The rest of the support do not deserve special mention. Lady Jane Grey will be repeated mention.

this evening.
The Arlington.

The Arlington Theatre was reopened last The Artington Theatre was reopened last night, under the management of Mr. George E. Tucker, who had provided a first-class show for his patrons. A large house greeted the performers, and judging from the comments, the Arlington is destined to become a favorite pleasure resort.

Theatre Comique. The Charles' "Skeleton Hand" Combination held forth at the Theatro Comique last night, to a full house. The variety performance which preceded the drama is one of the best of its class which has been presented at the Comique for a long time, was an exceedingly fine one, and was well received. Frank White, an old favorite, was the recipient of much applause. The same bill will be presented at the matineo this afternoon. Great Reductions at Shuster's.

Laidies who have purchases to make should by the bill. On motion it was decided to appoint a committee of one hundred citizens of South Washington to wait upon Congress and Sons.
